Description of Program

Course will stress safety and provide hands-on training with various fiber types and connectors. Students will work with UPC/APC field mount, single mode and multimode, indoor and outdoor cabling and use fiber optic testing equipment.

Students will practice and demonstrate the precision needed in cable prep and termination using mechanical and fusion splicing.

Why this skill matters

High demand field---fiber optics power the internet, smart cities, and modern infrastructure.

Gain a skill employers are actively hiring for in careers such as telecom, fiber to the home (FTTH), IT construction, and data centers.

The need for hands-on skilled technicians is increasing as fiber optics and AI expand.

Practical training — learn real-world techniques with professional tools and supplies.
